JAPAN PROPOSES NAVAL EQUALITY

Yamamoto of Japan and Tsumoto Matsudaira, Japan's ambassador to Great Britain, opened their statement of Japan's claim to equal rights. Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald presided. It is understood the Japanese representatives will next meet representatives of the United States. A further meeting between the Japanese and United Kingdom representatives will be held October 26. The Japanese are expected to meet the United States delegates on Thursday, to submit their scheme. Meanwhile the French and Italians will be kept informed of the progress of the negotiations.

Best Remedy is Made At Home

You can now make at home a better gray hair remedy than you can buy by following this simple recipe: To half pint of water add one ounce bay rum, a small box of Oriz Compound and one-fourth cup of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it yourself at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired color is obtained. Oriz imparts color to streaked, faded hair. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.

"Pretty Boy" Floyd Slain By Police on Farm in Ohio

East Liverpool, O., Oct. 23.—Secret servicemen of the United States Department of Justice caught up with Charles "Pretty Boy" Floyd, violent criminal of the Ozarks, near here yesterday, and took his life in a hall of rifle, pistol and machine gun bullets.

Federal agents and police came on the No. 1 public enemy of the United States at a lonely farm, seven miles north of this city. Fifty or more shots rang out as the officers halted the criminal's flight, and he fell mortally wounded, unable to use either of the two automatics he was carrying.

Quickly the officers, including four Department of Justice men and four East Liverpool policemen, came up to his prostrate form.

"Who the—tipped you?" demanded the dying man as they approached him. Then he inquired, "Where is Eddie?" Apparently he referred to Adam Richetti, captured Saturday near Wellsville, O., when he and Floyd engaged other officers in a gun battle.

Just before he died, Floyd said to Edwin Purvis, head of the Justice Department's bureau of investigation in Chicago, "I am Floyd." It was apparent that Floyd knew he was dying. He was wounded at least eight times and possibly twenty, by the officers' guns.

He died while officers were carrying him to a nearby hospital. Death came to Floyd in the same violent manner by which he had lived. At the time he was slain, he was the principal figure in a country-wide search, being sought by trigger-men in the Kansas City Union Station machine gun massacre in June 1933.

The officers who finally caught up with Floyd were led by Purvis, the same federal operative who tracked down the notorious John Dillinger.

When the officers came upon "Pretty Boy" he was talking to S. L. Dyke, a farm hand, and a woman, Mrs. Ellen Conkle, endeavoring to persuade him to take him to Youngsboro, where he thought he might find refuge in the more populous city.

WIFE TALKS WITH MOLL Amsterdam, Oct. 23.—Mrs. J. J. Moll, wife of co-pilot on the Dutch airliner in the England-to-Melbourne race, talked by radio with her husband at Albany, Australia, the plane was well and he and K. D. Farmer expected to start off again at dawn, as the ground was too soft for a night take-off.

ON LAST LEG Charlotte, Australia, Oct. 24.—Colonel Roscoe Turner and Clyde Pangborn, United States fliers fighting for second place in the London-to-Melbourne air derby, hopped off here on the last lap of their flight at 7:30 a.m. to-day, (1:30 this afternoon, Victoria time).

TIME OF PLANE RACE COMPUTED London, Oct. 23.—The Royal Aero Club, official authorities for the London-to-Melbourne air race, today computed the elapsed time of Scott and Black at seventy hours, fifty-nine minutes and fifty seconds.

Disagreement In McFadden Case Canadian Press Nanaimo, Oct. 23.—A jury failed to agree for the third time at the assize court sitting here, when eleven men and one woman sitting on the case of Rex versus W. G. McFadden, eighteen-year-old Salt Spring Island youth, announced yesterday that they were unable to agree after one and one-half hours deliberation.

Juries had previously recorded disagreement in two charges against George Hannay, former police officer. McFadden is charged with breaking and entering and stealing goods to the amount of $150 from the store of W. B. Powell, Duncan.

LANES SIMPLIFY CORNER TRAFFIC

The above diagram represents the layout of traffic lanes at the corner of Yates and Blanshard streets, which the police have installed for the convenience of motorists in making turns. By acquainting motorists with the use of these lanes, the police believe drivers will learn to use the proper lane even when they are not indicated at an intersection. When approaching an intersection, to make a left-hand turn motorists should keep the outside lane "A," marked in the diagram. If they are to continue straight ahead without making a turn in either direction, lanes "A" or "B" may be used. "C" is for right-hand turns only. The lined portions indicate the sidewalk. From this it will be seen that traffic making a swing to the right at no time interferes with cars which are proceeding straight ahead or making a left-turn, and in this manner the general operation of the traffic is improved and safety is increased.

Scott Tells How Great Race Won

The fliers were paraded down the racecourse in a motorcade amidst a storm of cheering. Sir Macpherson Robertson, promoter of the race, the dramatic highlight of Victoria's great centenary celebration, and other dignitaries, welcomed the fliers on behalf of Australia.

The Lord Mayor was forced to delay his speech while the multitude insisted on singing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

HEAVY STRAIN Scott said: "A short time ago we feared for our machine. It seemed we had started centuries ago. Every mile we got nearer Melbourne it seemed we were going back two. It was a terrible mental state."

BLACK'S THANKS Black approached the microphone and declared bluntly: "I never made a speech in my life. All I can say is that I have been roaring at Black for the last few days, and he hasn't roared back much; let him talk now."

AT WORK ALL TIME Scott told the Reuters correspondent: "Neither of us got a wink of sleep during the trip. We had to be on the job all the time. We were feeling pretty done up on the run down, but a bit better now."

WING-COMMANDER Cole, deputy chairman of the race committee, declared Scott and Black "displayed truly amazing pluck and endurance on their 'unsuspected' skill as pilots and navigators of the world's greatest air race victory."

After his victory, said Wing-Commander Cole, was the more we learned of the triumph of British airman in a British machine driven by British fliers.

Scott is a Londoner, more than six feet tall, former heavyweight boxing champion of the Royal Air Force. He married, his home being at Mersea Island, Black is a former Royal Air Force pilot, actively interested in flying and farming in British Kenya.

He acted as pilot for the Prince of Wales in East Africa in 1930.

NO DELAY THERE When Scott at Charlville learned Farmer and Moll had left Darwin half an hour before, he exclaimed:

"We must leave immediately, even on one engine, or those Dutch boys will catch us."

He was obviously anxious there over the conditions imposed on the plane by the crippled engine, but mechanic who had just arrived from Brisbane in response to Scott's urgent appeal sent from Port Darwin, tackled the job so vigorously that when Scott and Black hopped off from Charlville, both engines were functioning perfectly.

The rejuvenated Comet made great speed from then on, as attested by the fact it covered 400 miles from Charlville, exactly two hours after the hop-off.

GREETED BY AVIATRICES Among the first to greet Scott and Black were A. O. Edwards of London and three Australian women pilots, one of them Jean Batten, holder of a woman's solo flight record from England to Australia.

Black's first words when he alighted were: "I am fit and have been perfectly fit throughout the flight."

"The complete lack of sleep except for brief doses in the cramped cockpit made the flight one of the most trying experiences of my life, but the end at the last quarter of an hour, when we were wondering if the Comet's single engine would carry us to Flemingtown, alighted, made everything worth while."

DRANK COFFEE "Two flasks of black coffee kept us awake, while the barley sugar and chocolate were about the most important things the machine carried. But there was also a small black cat mascot, 'Just for luck,' letters and spare clothing."

Although tired and husky and limping from cramps, Scott was in good spirits.

Black showed more effects from the ordeal than his companion. After giving themselves the luxury of hot baths and shaves, the winning pilots had an informal dinner with Sir Macpherson Robertson, donor of the prizes.

young pioneers of the empire on which the sun never sets are "Charley" Scott and "Tommy" Black, heroes in one of the history's greatest flying feats.

Extreme modesty and build of tenacity are characteristic of this pair, as of many other Englishmen who refuse to be tied down to the narrow confines of their little island.

He is thirty-one, was born in London but has been making pioneer flights over Australia for most of the last eight years. Apparently he came to England just for the purpose of setting records over the route, for this is the fourth time he has set a new mark.

Trim, moustached, Black, who is thirty-five, was born in Brighton and made his reputation as a flier in East Africa over territory much more dangerous than any he experienced in his latest flight.

No two men were more modest before the England-to-Australia air derby, despite the fame they had already won. Scott made no boasts or promises as he told A. O. Edwards, their backer, of the difficulties and hazards.

NO APPLAUSE When Black viewed a newswriter who his mother-of-the-christening of their plane he insisted they refrain from clapping her hands.

Sh-h-h, mother, you will attract attention," he whispered to her in alarm.

The fathers of both Scott and Black achieved reputations in much more restricted circles. The elder Scott conducted the Philharmonia Choir, the Bach Cantata Club and other musical societies here.

Former mayor of an alderman and a member of the House of Commons, Norman Black is a leading racing motorist.

Force in 1922 and when he was transferred into the reserves in 1926 he went to Australia. There he made his mark in the difficult North-Territory.

CARRIED REVOLVER Scott once disclosed that he always carried a revolver over the Timor Sea so if he crashed he could place it nearby before being torn to pieces by sharks.

After serving in the Royal Naval Air Force during the Great War, Black interested himself in coffee plantations in Kenya. But flying remained his chief occupation.

Flight-Lieutenant Charles W. A. Scott, winner with Capt. Campbell Black, of the England-Australia race, today was the lightest-weight boxing champion of the British Royal Air Force, and more than once swore off making speed records between England and Australia, but always came back to shatter them again.

Long-standing rivalry with Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith and James A. Mollison edged him out.

When he first beat Kingsford-Smith's record in April, 1931, flying solo in nine days, three hours and twenty minutes, the hardships and perils were so great that he said:

"I would not have attempted again for £1,000,000."

As winning pilot of the MacRobertson race, the Scott-Black combination gets a prize of about $50,000.

Then he proceeded to fly back to England, making it in ten days, and again eclipsing a mark set by Kingsford-Smith. For this achievement the King presented Scott with the Air Force Cross, recognizing his "distinguished service to aviation."

SAID HE WAS THROUGH Soon afterward Mollison broke Scott's record from Australia to London, and J. A. Butler smashed his mark in the opposite direction. Retrieving this record on April 26, 1932, by reaching Darwin in eight days, twenty hours, the six-foot Scott declared he was "through record hunting."

The following year Kingsford-Smith made Australia in a little over seven days. Said Scott:

"Smith is a wizard. Now I must think about trying to regain the record. I most certainly will make an attempt, but it will not be this year (1933). I may have a shot about March of next year."

STARTED LAST SATURDAY He saved his fire for the MacRobertson race. Scott served several years as a commercial pilot in Australia after leaving the Royal Air Force.

BLACK VETERAN FLIER Captain Campbell Black, like his air derby partner, is a veteran flier of the R.A.F., and has done especially strenuous work in East Africa. In the desert wastes of the trackless Nile country he made a spectacular rescue of Ernst Udet, former German ace, in 1931.

DEFENCE ASKS DISMISSAL

he had previously held the powers had expired and there had been no new order passed to empower him.

Prosecutor White argued that the order covering Dr. MacDonald last January was still in force as a continuing order.

"Can you start this case unless you have the consent of the Attorney-General?" Judge Ellis asked Mr. White. "Have you the consent of K. C. MacDonald for this prosecution. Will it stand?"

"That order of January was not a continuing order," said Mr. Patton. "And since January 18 the premier and Mr. Sloan had returned from Ottawa bringing the order to an end. The government should have passed another order to empower Dr. MacDonald again if the premier and Mr. Sloan were to be away again. And if the government did not do it, then there is no one empowered during the absence of these two men to sign such a consent."

Mr. Patton asked for the dismissal at once of the case against Mr. Maynard.

WANTS BENEFIT OF ERROR This is all a mischievous on the part of the government and we shall have the benefit of it," Mr. Patton went on.

The two lawyers began to quote each other.

"This is rather an important point," said Judge Ellis. He asked Mr. White how he was going to meet it.

Mr. White argued that the minister named was the acting attorney-general.

Dr. C. K. MacDonald, who is not legally the acting attorney-general when this consent was given, and therefore we have no consent for this prosecution," Mr. Patton repeated.

The judge at 12:45 o'clock ordered an adjournment to give the prosecution an opportunity to see if it could meet the defence's demand for an immediate dismissal of the case.

Mr. White will be heard when the court resumes this afternoon before the judge gives his ruling on Mr. Patton's demand for a dismissal.

OPENING DELAYED Scheduled to begin at 11 o'clock, it was not until 11:38 o'clock that the court was called to order. A large crowd, which included a number of women, filled the spectators' enclosure.

Mr. Maynard entered the court just before 11 o'clock and took a seat at the left of the counsel's table. In the counsel table were Cleve G. White, in charge of the prosecution for the Attorney-General, and Arthur J. Patton, defence counsel.

Mr. Patton, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Francis Patton, from his law office.

On taking his seat on the bench, Judge Ellis said he would ask for a re-election. The commitment was then read by Registrar David Reid, and on this Mr. Maynard asked for speedy trial without a jury.

CHARGE MISSING There was a delay when it was found Mr. Maynard must plead again, and the required signed document was missing.

The court adjourned until this afternoon when the charge will be read. The property of Joseph A. Robert Brown and Agnes Amelia Clara Brown, had, in violation of his trust, been converted to his own use.

Maynard had been his land and house at 2016 Fifth Street, this conversion being for purposes not authorized by the trust.

To this charge, Maynard pleaded in a loud voice, "Not guilty."

PROSECUTION CASE STATED In his opening address, Mr. White said that in August, 1932, Mr. Brown had gone to Maynard's store to buy some shoes. There he got into conversation with Maynard.

Maynard mentioned that the dwelling for himself and his wife was on the property of the trust, and he would like to sell it. Maynard immediately said he might be able to sell it for him for $5,000. Maynard said he would charge no commission, but he had explained that he would help him with the sale if the property was put in his name. He said he had been doing so before and that it was quite regular. Accordingly, Mr. and Mrs. Brown gave a conveyance to Mr. Maynard.

Mr. White then told the court that Maynard's property at Elk Lake was a mortgage for $3,000.

"Mr. Maynard then conceived the idea of switching the mortgage from the Elk Lake property to the Brown's Victoria property," Mr. White went on. "This would leave the Elk Lake property free of mortgage and enable him to convey it."

Accordingly, Mr. White went on, Maynard went to a solicitor and the release of the mortgage on the Elk Lake property was put through on September 7.

"When the accused charged that mortgage and took the benefit of it, the time when the crime was committed," Mr. White declared.

It was said Mr. McFarland might issue statement later to-day with respect to the government policy and his future operations as general manager to the central selling agency.

It was his opinion, Mr. Bennett said, that the Canadian people had sent to the United States in speculative losses on grain and stocks in the last twenty-five years a sum equal to the public debt of Canada before the Great War.

New York, Oct. 23.—Louis Dreyfus and Company, French grain brokers, issued a statement to-day through its New York office denying reports that the company, together with other grain houses, was arranging a wheat pool designed "to break the prices fixed by the Canadian Government" and thereby to secure an international wheat monopoly.

Reports have been circulated," the statement said, "that Louis Dreyfus and Co., acting in co-operation with Messrs. Bunge and Co. of Antwerp and Messrs. W. R. Muller and Co. of Hamburg, have been arranging a

Local Druggists Are Now Offering a Free Trial of Vicks Vapo-nol for Nose and Throat—Also of Its Ideal Companion, Vicks VapoRub

NEW PREVENTION IDEA

This Discovery Introduces Unique Vicks Plan for Better Colds-Control

HOW VICKS PLAN WORKS

Following years of research on the problem of colds, Vicks chemists have developed a new aid in preventing colds—Vicks Vapo-nol, for nose and throat. This new Vicks preparation is the ideal companion to Vicks VapoRub, the modern method of treating colds.

These two Vicks preparations, together with a few simple rules of health, form the unique Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds. The help of the Vicks Plan in reducing the number and duration of colds has been clinically tested by physicians. (Full details of the Plan are in each package of Vicks Vapo-nol and of Vicks VapoRub.)

Briefly, here is how Vicks Plan works:

To Prevent Colds Watch yourself and children after exposure to any condition that you know is apt to be followed by a cold, such as—

Coming in contact with others having fresh colds—colds, flu, influenza, etc., in public places—sudden changes in temperature—excesses in living, drinking, eating, smoking or drinking, which reduce body resistance.

Wheat pool designed to break the prices fixed by the Canadian Government for wheat and thus to secure for ourselves at least for a time something like a monopoly control of the control of the wheat trade and the control of the British imports.

"It has also been reported that the recent visit of Prime Minister Bennett of Canada to Paris was for the purpose of conferring with Louis Dreyfus and Co. regarding the pool."

"These statements are not accurate. It is not within the power of any firm or even a group of firms to change in any way the position created by the Canadian Government, which has of its own free will fixed the price of its own free wheat. We do not fix the prices. All we can do is to act as broker to bring the raiser and the consumer of wheat together. We are just as ready to sell Canadian cereals as Argentine. We hold no speculative position in wheat."

WHEAT MIXING Ottawa, Oct. 23.—The urgent question was whether or not the farmers of Canada were to be sacrificed ten, twenty or thirty cents per bushel on their wheat, Dominion officials stated today in commenting on remarks of President W. A. Black of the Ogilvie Flour Mills Co. Ltd. in Montreal. In an interview the mill company head yesterday said the reason for the Canadian millers and biscuit manufacturers' importing British flour for mixing with that of Manitoba was the government had boosted prices of the Canadian product, with the result that this commodity could be bought for less.

The crux of the situation was Argentine wheat, said officials. Wheat from Argentina, which was being imported, sold at much lower prices than quotations for Canadian wheat.

The government sacrificed the farmers of this country by the dropping of prices for the Canadian wheat, Argentina would drop its prices still lower to keep well under the Canadian price, officials stated.

So far as imports of wheat, this product were concerned, there was a comparatively small amount so to speak entering the country, said officials.

The British millers mixed their wheat with imports of different countries, and the Canadian millers were doing likewise, added officials.

Then—at the slightest irritation in the nasal passages, where most colds start—use Vicks Vapo-nol at once. Just a few drops up each nostril. Repeat every hour or so if needed. Vicks Vapo-nol aids Nature's functions—in the nose—to prevent colds, and to throw off colds in their early stages. Used in time, Vapo-nol aids in preventing many colds.

To Help Shorten a Cold If a cold has developed, rub Vicks VapoRub well over throat and chest at bedtime. Through the night, VapoRub attacks the cold directly—two ways at once—by stimulation, direct through the skin, like a poultice or plaster—and by inhalation, of its medicated vapors direct to the inflamed air-passages. This long-continued double action loosens phlegm, soothes irritated membranes, eases difficult breathing, and helps break congestion.

During the day—any time, any place—use Vicks Vapo-nol every few hours as needed. This gives you full 24-hour treatment without the risks of constant internal dosing, which so often upsets the digestion—especially of children.

Trial Packages, Free Your druggist has free combination packages containing trial sizes of Vapo-nol and VapoRub—also folder telling how these twin aids to fewer colds and shorter colds are used in the Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds. Ask for yours to-day, as your druggist's supply is limited.

RECORD SET BY RACE WINNERS

Canadian Press Melbourne, Oct. 23.—A new speed record for long distance flights was established by C. W. A. Scott and Campbell Black in their spectacular dash from England to Melbourne.

They averaged 176.5 miles an hour flying time, and zoomed their plane along at a speed of 180 miles an hour for the total elapsed time. It took them seventy hours and fifty-nine minutes and fifty seconds to fly the hazardous 11,223 miles.

Wiley Post, during his round-the-world dash in July, 1931, averaged 134 miles an hour for the 15,586-mile flight. He reached Flat, Alaska, 11,767 miles from New York, in eighty-nine hours forty-two minutes at a speed of 131 miles an hour.

M. Root and Paul Cordes of France, who in August, 1932, set the world distance record, straight line, non-stop, of 5,683 miles, were in the air for fifty-six hours twelve minutes. They averaged about 100 miles an hour.

MATTER'S RECORD James J. Matter, who failed in his attempt to circle the globe by plane in June, 1933, set a speed mark of 154 miles an hour in his flight from New York to Moscow, a distance of 4,920 miles.

The previous England-to-Australia record is in sharp contrast with the performance of the Scott and Black Comet. C. T. P. Ulm, in October, 1933, flew from Wetham, England, to Derby, Australia, a distance of 9,820 miles, in six days seventeen hours and fifty-five minutes. His average speed was only fifty-eight miles an hour for the entire distance, just one-third the mark set by Scott and Black.

James J. Matter, in his flight half-way around the globe, had crossed the North American continent five times in less than three days.

LIQUOR PRICES CUT IN WASHINGTON

Associated Press
Olympia, Wash., Oct. 23.—Liquor prices called the lowest in the country, with reductions of existing prices of up to 30 per cent on many brands, were found by patrons of Washington State liquor stores to-day, marking the second time price cuts have been made since state liquor control became effective last March. In addition the state now introduces Scotch whisky under its own label and promises gin shortly.

The sweeping price reductions, put into effect yesterday, sent the prices of liquors down near pre-prohibition levels, said board members, who expect the move to deal another hard blow at illegal competition. Gin is offered as low as 75 cents a fifth, wine at $1 a gallon, imported Scotch whisky starting at $2.25 a fifth, straight domestic whisky at 90 cents a fifth, and a blend of domestic Bourbon at 85 cents a fifth.

VANCOUVER FEARS RIOTS

Vancouver Unwilling to Cut Out Relief; Municipalities Have to Alter Stand

Drastic resolutions aiming to have all municipalities stop relief payments if the provincial government intended to adhere to its announced new policy of contributing to unemployment relief had been modified to a large extent at the executive meeting of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities by Vancouver's unwillingness to take that step, Mayor David Leeming told the City Council in reporting on the session at yesterday evening's council meeting.

The Terminal City had been afraid of rioting if that path were followed, he stated, before explaining the new resolutions which had been brought in.

He spoke briefly of an interview he and R. B. F. Sewell, secretary of the municipal union, had had with Premier Pattullo and outlined the press statement the premier had shown him.

STATEMENT CLOUDY
The situation appeared very indefinite to him, the mayor stated. Many had tried but failed to clarify the premier's statement.

He had suggested a meeting with the administrator of the relief department, but the Union of B.C. Municipalities had stood out against any absorption of the federal grant cut.

Alderman Walter Lunney suggested the council support the union resolution.

Alderman R. A. C. Dewar was against the motion, claiming drastic action was needed to show the federal authorities they were supporting the lives of hundreds of homeowners in their proposed course. He thought certain parties were afraid to take the bull by the horns.

At the conclusion of the discussion D. A. Macdonald, city controller, and E. G. Snowden, city relief officer, were instructed to meet the relief administrator for an explanation of the new terms.

CITY TAKES ON RESPONSIBILITY

Will Pay Costs of Patients From Aged Men's Home in Jubilee Hospital

The question regarding responsibility for hospital patients from the Old Men's Home, which has been a bone of contention between the city and Oak Bay for some time, was settled by the City Council yesterday evening when it endorsed a recommendation from the finance committee accepting the responsibility for cases coming from the institution.

"Reference inmates of Old Men's Home receiving treatment at the Jubilee Hospital and the charge of seventy cents per day being made against Oak Bay municipality," the recommendation read: "Your committee recognizes the strong moral claim that these patients should be a city charge, and recommends that as from November 1, 1934, this charge of seventy cents per day for patients in the Jubilee Hospital from the Old Men's Home be absorbed by the city and the hospital authorities so advised."

The city had the opportunity of avoiding this charge owing to the fact the Old Men's Home is in Oak Bay, and cases could be charged against that municipality if the strict legal point were followed. However, the moral obligation was clearly the city's, and it decided to meet it.

ESSAY PRIZE ON AUSTRALIA

Conditions of Contest For High School Students Are Announced

With a view to promoting good will towards Australia among Canadians, and to stimulating interest in travel there, the Commonwealth is offering a free trip to Australia to the Canadian high school student who writes the best essay on the subject "Australia" during the fall.

There will also be awarded a money prize of $50 for the best composition in each province.

The rules of the contest, arranged after consultation with the Deputy Minister of Education in each province, are as follows:

Essays should be of approximately 2,500 words, and may be written in English or in French.

The age of competing students shall not exceed eighteen years. In addition to references to Australian history, resources, and development generally, some reference must be made in the essay to the relations of Canada and Australia. At least one Australian product used in the homes of Canadian people and one Canadian product used in the homes of Australians must be mentioned in the essay.

Students writing essays must have been bona fide students at Canadian schools during at least three years prior to the date of the writing of the essay and at the time of writing must be a regularly enrolled pupil of a Canadian high school or collegiate institution, or equivalent educational institution.

The essay must be written in the classroom, but may be spread over more than one day at the judgment of the teacher. It should indicate the full name, address and date of birth of the student. The writing of the essay must be done in the work of the student and should not be blind copying from any books or pamphlets, although there is no objection to access to works of reference.

It is stipulated that any high school (or equivalent institution) participating in this competition must arrange for at least twenty essays on Australia to be written by its students. The principal of each school will determine the best essay in his school and forward the same to the Deputy Minister of Education in his province, so as to reach the deputy minister not later than December 15, 1934. Each essay so forwarded must be accompanied by a certification of the principal of the educational institution concerned, to the effect: That such best essay in his institution is the original, unaided, and personal work of the student, and that the principal's belief is correctly stated on the essay, and that at least twenty essays were written by students in the institution.

The Deputy Minister (or superintendent) of Education in each province will arrange for a provincial adjudication of essays between the essays submitted in the province and will select the four essays considered to be the best among those submitted in the province.

The Deputy Minister (or superintendent) of Education in each province will forward these four best essays to the Australian Trade Commissioner in Canada, so as to reach that office not later than January 15, 1935.

The Australian Trade Commissioner will submit the thirty-six provincial essays to a central committee for determination: As to the best essay in each province and as to the best essay in the whole of Canada. In making final adjudication the central committee will adopt the following scheme of marking: 30 per cent for facts, 45 per cent for deduction and vision, 5 per cent for spelling, 10 per cent for style and originality, 10 per cent for neatness. Any outstanding feature in a contribution to be considered.

All essays after submission will become the property of the Commonwealth of Australia.

Pamphlets with information regarding Australia for issuance to high schools will be sent by the Australian Trade Commissioner to the Deputy Minister of Education in each province, and will be available to principals in reasonable quantities.

An arrangement is being made for a composite silent moving picture film, depicting Australian scenery, industries and resources, and facts regarding Australia, to be available for showing in high schools where facilities are available.

The Australian Trade Commissioner will make a special tour across Canada, visiting principle centres, under an itinerary to be arranged, and will be available for conference with principals at all main points.

CITY AVOIDS REFUND MOVE

Victoria Will Not Take Advantage of New Legislation This Year

Victoria will not take advantage of recent legislation passed by the provincial government granting permission for refunding debentures, at the present time, according to action taken by the City Council yesterday evening, when it endorsed a recommendation to that effect from the finance committee.

"At the present time," the recommendation stated, "it is unnecessary for the city of Victoria to take advantage of powers given municipalities for refunding debentures and your committee recommends that so long as the city is able to meet all its financial obligations no appeal be made to the government in this connection."

The council also authorized grants of $5,000 to the Jubilee Hospital and $25,000 to the Victoria Order of Nurses on the committee's recommendation and approved certain bond deals.

To stimulate a larger production of tobacco the government of Spain is making loans to growers.

Mayors of eight cities marched to the twelfth-century church of Rye, England, to attend a musical festival.

Recalls Hanging Forty Years Ago

All the Details of These Events Were Published; Tickets For Hangings Were in Great Demand

Memories of a hanging which he witnessed in Victoria forty years ago were recalled for H. C. Williams, Market Street, yesterday, when in going through some papers in his house he came across a forty-year-old copy of The Victoria Daily Times.

A two-column article gives full details of the hanging ceremony, telling how the murderer behaved the day before he went to death, how he mounted the scaffold and made a speech before the trap was pulled. According to the article the murderer, in a clear, strong voice, announced to the audience, "I can only say this much, I'm very thankful to everybody for the kindness they have shown me. No one need have no fear but you're hanging a guilty man. I don't hold no grudge against nobody. I hope to meet you all in the better land. I wish you all goodbye. That's all I have to say."

How the hangman placed the prisoner on the centre of the trap and strapped his legs together and how the audience reacted is all told in detail in the story of an execution in the days when tickets were eagerly sought for such occasions in Victoria.

ASK RULE ON FIRE CALLS

Local Department Seeks Statement of Procedure When Called From City

The City Council yesterday evening turned its attention to the more active features of fire protection service to determine what stand it should take when called upon in an emergency to fight blazes outside the bounds of the city or Oak Bay, which is also serviced by the Victoria department.

Finally the council decided to ask Chief Alex Munroe his opinion on the matter and to determine from the legal department the city's responsibility in the case of answering a call, both to the district served and to the rest of the city the fire fighting forces of which would necessarily be depleted.

The matter arose out of a letter from Chief Munroe explaining the reason for the rush relief trip of a Victoria pumper to the Sidney mill fire yesterday. The engine had come out when one sent from Saanich had broken down and the local men had been able to assist in checking the blaze. Munroe had not left until the chief had communicated with the mayor and had finally reached a decision to send it. The chief asked a ruling on the procedure.

COMMENDS FORCE

Alderman Walter Lunney, chairman of the fire wardens, backed a motion commending the city's squad action, but supported the chief in his request for a ruling.

He told the council how Saanich had telephoned for protection when it sent its force to fight the blaze. The fire warden had asked whether or not a fixed schedule of charges should be set for service similar to that of the department yesterday and expressed the view a charge should be made for the Monday call. Victoria had sent out expensive equipment to protect the interest of the fire underwriters and they might very well pay for the service, he believed.

RESPONSIBILITY QUESTION

The mayor pointed to the necessity of determining responsibility. Alderman Lunney pointed to the obligation of the city service to protect the city and asked what the department's position would have been had the equipment been required to fight a local blaze. He believed the finance committee might draw up a schedule of charges.

"I'd like to know if the city's coverage lowers the rates on municipalities' fire insurance," Alderman McClellan remarked.

Alderman Alex Peden also questioned the city's position if a fire broke out when part of the apparatus was out of town.

HOME SYSTEM AGAIN MOOTED

Council Asks Report on Advisability of Returning to Former System

A report on the advisability of re-establishing the institution system in place of foster homes, will be asked from the Children's Aid Society by the City Council as the result of a motion passed at the council meeting yesterday evening.

The council voted an extra grant of $700 to help care for the wards for the rest of the year before asking

Contrast her life with yours

HER life is outdoors... the wind... the sun... the blue, murmuring Pacific. Yours is confined... the home... the schoolroom... the factory... the office. Her food is plain and invigorating. Yours is rich and disturbing. Her breath is as sweet as the hibiscus in her hair—and she knows it. Yours... well, you really don't know... you merely hope.

Don't offend others!

Hurry and worry, over-indulgence in eating or drinking, little or no exercise, all have a bearing on the condition of the breath. Is it any wonder that so many Canadians have halitosis (unpleasant breath)? The insidious thing about it is that you yourself never know when you are guilty of this offense. But you needn't be guilty if you will simply rinse the mouth with Listerine, the quick deodorant. Listerine combats unhealthy mouth conditions and overcomes the odors arising from them. Use it morning and night and between times before meeting others. It makes you acceptable to them. Lambert Pharmacal Company, Toronto, Ont.

MORE FUNDS URGENTLY NEEDED

ALTHOUGH THE CAMPAIGN, ORIGINALLY intended to consume a week's time, is now at the second day of the second week, the drive for funds for the Friendly Help Welfare Association has succeeded in netting only $16,000 towards the $43,500 which is considered necessary to meet the most urgent needs of the coming winter.

Those in charge of the campaign earnestly hope that the many thousands who they feel sure would like to give will make their contributions as quickly as possible in order that the books may be closed. It should be understood that while the large cheque naturally is heartily welcome, the modest contribution will be equally thankfully received.

The Friendly Help Welfare Association must depend largely upon voluntary contributions with which to do its fine humanitarian work. For some years past, it should be pointed out, the Citizens' Unemployment Relief Fund has been providing clothing and other necessities in needy cases; but this fund has been entirely exhausted and the F.H.W.A. has accepted this additional responsibility.

Incidentally, the drive for $43,500 takes into account the needs not only of Victoria, but also of Oak Bay, Saanich, and Esquimalt.

THE SCOTT AND BLACK EPIC

ELEVEN THOUSAND, THREE HUNDRED and twenty-three miles in seventy hours, fifty-nine minutes, and fifty seconds from Mildenhall, London, England, to Flemington Race Track, Melbourne, Australia!

Just ponder that for a second and then rub your eyes and ask yourself if you are fully awake or in the middle of a dream. You are not dreaming. The thing is true. C. W. A. Scott and Campbell Black, British flyers, turned the trick between last Saturday morning and yesterday afternoon. For the whole distance they flew their de Havilland Comet at an average speed of almost three miles a minute. They scarcely closed their eyes in sleep for more than a few minutes throughout one of the most gruelling ordeals man has ever been called upon to endure. They shouted to one another to keep one another awake, realizing that one false move, one second's lapse from hair-trigger vigilance, might mean instant death.

These two young men—and several others of the pack behind them—flew, since last Saturday morning, over Europe, Asia, the Malay Peninsula, and from north to south across the Australian continent. They were required under the rules of the race to make five compulsory stops. They made them, plus one more. Six stops in a trip of 11,323 miles!

It is almost time for you to rub your eyes again and wonder once more whether this thing is all true or nothing but a dream. No dream; not a bit of it!

Let the victors talk. Says Scott: "It was a lousy trip, and that's praising it. A short time ago we feared for our machine. It seemed that we had started centuries ago. Every mile we got nearer Melbourne it seemed we were going back two. It was a terrible mental state. Now, I am terribly embarrassed. I don't think I can say much more, as I've been roaring at Black for the past few days and he hasn't roared back much; let him talk now."

Black approached the microphone and declared bluntly: "I never made a speech in my life. All I can say is, thank you."

There is nothing more to be said save that the Scott and Black epic was an unparalleled triumph for man and machine.

SICK HUNGARY

THE FEVERED POST-WAR WORLD has given many symptoms of mortal sickness, but nothing has been quite as ominous, quite as terrible in its reflection of deep, malignant distress, as the recent tragic "suicide strike" of the Hungarian coal miners.

Here was something new in the way of strikes. When more than a thousand men are willing to lock themselves in lightless underground corridors and invite death to come to them in one of its most frightening forms, it becomes dreadfully clear that no ordinary capital-labor dispute is involved.

What we get, rather, is a struggle against a whole society, a whole order of living; the kind of struggle that has sent revolutionists out to die on bloody barricades in forlorn-hope madness of desperate despair.

Indeed, this reaching for suicide in the mine pits was more appalling than any revolt could be. For men who rise in revolt, even when the odds against them are a thousand to one, still have that outside chance of success.

They still get a "savage emotional release from getting to grips with their oppressors. They are in the open air, they die beneath the sky, and they take some of their foes to death with them.

But these men had none of these incentives. Their threat simply meant that life on the old terms was insupportable. In the darkness of the depths of the earth, they could invite the spectre which miners fear above all things; and by doing so they revealed a frenzy of discontent which is the most frightening thing Europe has shown us since the war.

For a thing of this kind could not happen in a world that was even moderately healthy. It bespeaks a sick society, sick with a complication of ailments that are beyond mere palliatives.

A land in which a thousand men can deliberately plan to commit suicide as a protest against working conditions is a land almost at the point of death.

The peculiar inability of modern society to solve the problems of production, consumption, and employment generates dangerous social pressures in even the most fortunate of countries.

In Europe, the case is made infinitely worse by the stupidity of the post-war treaties, widespread denial of liberty and a vicious network of racial, national, and class hatreds.

This miners' strike is ominous proof that the pressure thus generated is reaching the explosive point. Will Europe be able to survive it?

ANOTHER DOUKHOBOR INVASION?

AN INTIMATION COMES FROM REGINA that the Doukhobors of Saskatchewan are trying to dispose of their holdings in that province—about 36,000 acres in all—and that, if the negotiations are successful, they will move to British Columbia. The Regina Leader-Post has this to say on the subject:

"The Doukhobors in this province, as in other provinces of the west, have been synonymous with difficulty. They have been in many brushes with the law, chiefly over nude parades they have insisted in holding and over educational stipulations. It has been difficult to fit them into the body politic. It has been hard to fit them into the Canadian picture. They have been difficult to assimilate.

"On the other hand, the Doukhobors have had their points worthy of emulation. They have been industrious, resourceful and thrifty. They have adhered to a simple life where many not of their sect have gone in for wastefulness and extravagance."

AN IMPORTANT INDUSTRY

WITH THE VALUE OF ITS PRODUCTS averaging more than one hundred million dollars a year, the Canadian chemical industry constitutes an excellent example of the advanced development of Canadian manufacturing. It confutes the ideas of those who still consider Canada an undeveloped country, largely dependent upon wheat, lumber, fish and furs.

On the whole, the chemical industry has come through the depression in a notable manner. Not only has there been little contraction in the volume of production, but the need for new products has led to the building of new plants and the installation of new equipment at a time when a large proportion of the plant of many other industries has been lying idle, at a time, in fact, when lack of confidence in the prospects in other industries has prevented them from securing the capital necessary for normal maintenance and repairs. Some authorities have traced the chemical industry of Canada back to the establishment of a factory for the manufacture of explosives for the mines.

Whether or not this was the true beginning of the industry, it is certain that the acute need of the Allies for a wide variety of chemicals, particularly those required in the production of explosives, stimulated rapid development during the war. With the start made at that time as a base, the expansion since then has been phenomenal.

It would appear that still another flying record has been established to-day by Lieut. Francesco Angello of Italy—beating one of his own—when he flew a seaplane at the unofficial speed of 435 miles an hour over Lake Garda. Last year he set up 423,822 miles an hour. The official record will be announced as soon as timings have been completed. It will be recalled that after the last Schneider Cup race, in which a Briton set up a new record, it was thought that the machine he flew could do better than the 378-mile clip, so it was given a test on a straight-away mile and back, with the result that speeds of 407 and 417 miles an hour were registered. Last year, however, Lieut. Angello hit a new high and now has demolished his own record.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

NATIONAL GOVERNMENT

A national government, a government of national union, or a coalition, call it what you like, appears at the present moment to be the most clear-sighted observers impossible. And even if such a government were possible, it would not be desirable.

LAW'S DELAY
Le Droit, Hull

Hon. L. A. Taschereau, Prime Minister of Quebec and Attorney-General, draws attention to the Canadian Bar Association to the necessity of speedy justice in Canada. Mr. Taschereau is no sentimentalist who would be led astray by false compassion for criminals. In all justice he recognizes that to the accused man every possible means of defence must be given, but he does not desire that unjust delays should allow criminals to escape the chastisement that they merit, and thereby encourage them in their evil ways. For fifteen years Hon. Mr. Taschereau has been Attorney-General for the province and he has acquired valuable experience in the administration of justice. He knows what he is talking about. His suggestions cannot be lightly set aside.

THE MISSION OF THE RACE
Le Canada

People who have lived a little seldom refrain from smiling when they hear talk about the mission of our race, words so often abused, words which sound so well in speeches at annual gatherings. But the smile does not at all prevent the French-Canadian elite from realizing the importance of the mission they are called to fulfil in North America; that of extending French influence, so that through us French thought and French outlook on life may be more widely and more constantly diffused on this continent. May the memory of Jacques Cartier call us to reflect seriously on our destiny, to the reason that they merit, and thereby encourage them in their evil ways. For fifteen years Hon. Mr. Taschereau has been Attorney-General for the province and he has acquired valuable experience in the administration of justice. He knows what he is talking about. His suggestions cannot be lightly set aside.

Loose Ends

Mr. Mencken tells the truth about the politicians—we need a heroine in Victoria like the lady of Camden. We are a year ahead of Boston—and the storm is friendly but our way.

By H. B. W.

HOW HOT

THEAT DIVERTING quack, Mr. H. L. Mencken, who spends his life exposing quacks, has written a learned article in the current issue of Liberty to explain "Why Nobody Loves a Politician." What Mr. Mencken has to say about politicians makes luscious reading and the peasantry will enjoy it.

He says, among other things, that the average American congressman is "about on a level, intellectually and morally, with a bartender in a second-rate saloon or a head barber in a third-rate shop." The state governors, he says, are always getting into jail. "It would be hard," he adds, "to find any other class of presumably reputable men who show so high an average of rogues and charlatans."

He says that a politician who found that more than half his constituents had gone in for cannibalism would immediately find that cannibalism was a fine thing. Indeed, "no one in his sober senses would trust them (the politicians) in any place of responsibility calling for sound skill and common decency," yet we put our laws and lives in their keeping.

All politicians have "promised what they knew they couldn't deliver and have conspired at more or less open corruption."

"Try to imagine what would happen to a doctor who had to get by patients by scratching their backs and kissing their babies... imagine him obliged to go to the saloon keeper at the corner for permission to practice at all and giving the saloon keeper in return for his permit the right to dictate his prescriptions. Every politician, whether large or small, is in that same boat."

In plain words, the politicians are a pretty lousy lot, according to Mr. Mencken, and no doubt he is right. Deserves the kind of treatment he prescribes when he is forced to admit that "when two men stand up before a mob, the one honest and the other a fraud, the mob always prefers the fraud." The public, in other words, gets just the sort of politicians it deserves. The kind it really and truly wants. Yes, the politicians who may be a pretty lousy lot, much inferior, for example, to Mr. Mencken and to you and me, but I have always found them more honest and stable than the electorate who put them there.

HEROINE WANTED

I HAVE been waiting patiently, but in vain, for the discovery of the nameless hero who blocked up the hole at the corner of Yates and Douglas, wherein it is the quaint custom of the local constabulary to insert their jolly toy, the stop-and-go gadget, the kind of thing that was a demonstration, it was hardly spectacular enough, lacked something in drama.

What is needed is a demonstration such as that arranged recently in Camden, N.J., by Mrs. Elsie Barnabie. This gallant lady was roused to fury when the local electric light company started to place a pole in her lawn. When the electric light company's men had dug the hole, she sat on it and they couldn't move her. She got an umbrella and some thermos bottles and blankets and stayed on it all night. She stayed there three days, with an American flag planted beside her to recall that American democracy was cradled in revolution.

On the third day a neighbor threatened to sue her for causing so much commotion and collecting such crowds that her son's jaws had tightened with nervousness and he couldn't eat. Mrs. Barnabie continued to sit.

She sat altogether for five days, until the electric light company had to pay her $200 and give her the old pole for firewood.

Now, there was a demonstration which amounted to something. If we could find a Victorian lady who would sit on the pole at the corner of Yates and Douglas for five days while the police vainly sought to erect their stop-and-go gadget, we might begin to get somewhere with this revolution. Blocking up the hole secretly with gravel, after all, is a shabby sort of protest. If we could get one of our fairest flappers to park on top of it, like Peter at the dyke, like Mrs. Barnabie of Camden, N.J., the City Council would pay heed, and the world would know that Victorians never shall be slaves.

YEAR LATE

HARDLY a day passes without demonstrating all over again the advanced state of civilization in these parts. To-day, for example, I happened to pick up The Boston Transcript and a phrase caught my eye and I was reminded. To my amazement I found The Transcript attacking the Democratic candidate for governor because he was trying to monopolize and claim as his exclusive property the election sign, "Work and Wage."

Yes, it seems that the Great City of Boston, the intellectual hub of America's civilization, has just reached that point in politics which British Columbia, further advanced intellectually, had reached exactly a year ago. This, I feel, is very gratifying.

STORM

WHILE you covered in your huts on the other side of the hill last week-end, the storm did not frighten the rugged barbarians who inhabit our countryside. To us that stormy Sunday was one of the finest days of the year, and we wasted none of it inside. Equally into the teeth of the gale we marched, while the crisp cold leaves streamed in a brown blizzard about us and bounded lightly down, and the yellow leaves of maple dropped down and, being of inferior stuff, lay flat and despoiled on the wet ground.

It was a day made for winter digging and planting, for turning up the soil and laying tulip bulbs away in cosy comfort for the winter. The soil was in just the right state of moisture, the leaf mould under the oak trees felt exquisite to the touch, the air was full of the good earthy smell of approaching winter, and the dashes of rain felt fine down your neck when you were hot from digging.

Up on the hill the wind blew so hard that you could lie against it, and we had to hold the little boy next door by his coat tails or he would have blown away with the sea gulls. A great storm raged across the lily pond and sent the oak leaves that sail about this inland sea scurrying for shelter in friendly cover while Rupert, the largest of the gold-eyes, the hurricane raging above with a look of satisfaction, for the (Turn to Page 16, Col. 8)

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES OCTOBER 23, 1909

(From The Times Files)

An estimate has been submitted to the city council of the work of levelling the sand pits area at Spring Ridge according to the ideas of the property owners in the district. This will involve an expenditure of about $85,000 instead of $100,000, the first estimate made.

The opening game in the inter-collegiate rugby football series the High School fifteen and the university team battled for supremacy yesterday, but the best that either team could do was to make a touch and a convert, making five points all.

Alex Rowan, the Nanaimo runner, who finished fifth in the Seattle Marathon race, has a novel system for training for future marathons. He proposes to run all the way from Vancouver to Seattle. Rowan blames his lack of condition for the failure to do any better in the big race.

Just before reaching Prince Rupert on her last northern trip, the steamer Princess Victoria struck a log and stripped a blade off one of her propellers. She came south using only one engine, but made almost as good time as the Princess Beatrice, which left about the same time.

Four people on the stage, six in the orchestra, and a slightly greater number in the audience, comprised the attendance at the Victoria Theatre last evening. This at a performance so excellent that it may well be doubted if a better will be presented in Victoria this season.

"The Climax" is an unusual play. There are only four in the cast, but enough to create an illusion so perfect that the curtain at the end of each act seemed to throw the spectators back on the artificial and unreal after a glimpse at actual, pulsing life.

Other People's Views

The Times urges its correspondents to restrict their contributions to 500 words.

It positively will not print lengthy communications.

These letters must be plainly written on one side of the paper only, and must be accompanied by the names and addresses of the writers, not necessarily for publication but as a guarantee of good faith.

Letters will not be re-written for publication. If they are not legible no attempt will be made to read them.

Letters not used will not be returned to the writers.

AN APPEAL

To the Editor:—The Friendly Help Welfare Association is now in the midst of a campaign for the raising by public subscription of the sum of $43,500. May I, as one who has been in close touch with the work of the Friendly Help for many years, appeal to the citizens of Greater Victoria to do all in their power to help the association to obtain their object as early as possible so that the great work can go on. It is the bounden duty of everyone that can subscribe, no matter how small, to do so with-out delay. Wet and cold weather will soon be here and many people are in want of shoes and clothing. Think of children (if it were not for the assistance given by the Friendly Help) having to go to school without proper shoes or clothing, and in very many cases milk and food has to be provided. Unfortunately, the demands of this winter will be as great as ever and those who can possibly subscribe should do so to the limit. Surely (Turn to Page 16, Col. 1)

"Oh, it was such fun. Everybody just stared at us."

Five years ago to-day

One of the greatest financial crashes of modern times occurred on October 23, 1929. The five-year period since has tested nations and institutions.

The London Life has more than held its own during these critical years; in fact, it has greatly extended its service.

A REMARKABLE STORY

The growth of this Company as registered by the amount of Life Insurance in force is phenomenal for the times:

QUAKER OATS TO STAGE CONTEST

1,000 Bicycles to Be Given Away to the Best Answers in a 25-Word Essay

Joe E. Brown, the star in the forthcoming Warner Brothers' picture "6-day Bike Rider," and the Quaker Oats Company will give away 1,000 free bicycles to children.

All the boys and girls have to do is to write twenty-five words or less

In answer to the question "What mother thinks of Quaker Oats" and send it in to the Quaker Oats Company, Saskatoon, with two trade marks cut from Quaker Oats packages. The best answers in the opinion of the judges get the bicycles free.

This contest, which closes December 15, is open to everyone and the entries will be judged purely on merit and not on fancy writing or big words.

Japanese Visitor Tells of Lawnmowers

Ottawa, Oct. 23.—Many smooth velvety lawns in modern Japan owe their existence to Canada, for it was from Canada that Japan obtained its first lawnmower. Yotaro Sugimura, newly-appointed Japanese ambassador to Italy, was in Ottawa to-day and told how the first lawnmower came to Japan.

His father, the late Fukushi Sugimura, was the first consul for Japan in this country in 1889 when many Japanese immigrants were coming to British Columbia. The senior Sugimura was stationed at Vancouver. When he returned to Japan he took his lawnmower with him.

STORE ADDS NEW SECTION

E. Clifford Jones Heads New Interior Decorating Dept. For Standard Furniture Co.

The Standard Furniture Company has again branched out.

This locally-owned enterprising business has an enviable reputation for expansion. Starting in 1912 in a small one-story store on Pandora Avenue, The Standard Furniture Company moved in 1915 to two floors in the Sylvester Building on Yates Street, took over the entire Finch Building of four floors in 1925 and in 1931, generally conceded the depth of the depression, took over the entire Gordon Block at 787 Yates Street.

E. CLIFFORD JONES

built originally for the Gordon Department Store.

Now The Standard Furniture Company is adding an interior decorating department and new drapery work-rooms under the management of E. Clifford Jones, who is considered among the trade as one of Canada's leading interior decorators and drapery designers. He first studied applied art in his native Wales, later followed the profession in South Africa and for the last ten years in this country where he now needs no introduction as many of the finest interior decorated homes, hotels and halls, stand to his credit.

"When furnishing remember the windows are the eyes of the home that add or detract to the beauty of other furnishings," says Mr. Jones.

ANNIVERSARY AT FAIRFIELD

Banquet and Lecture Conclude Activities Marking Eighth Birthday of Church

A banquet attended by Mayor Leeming and church visitors yesterday evening commemorated the eighth anniversary of the opening of the present Fairfield United Church. The affair brought to a close the week-end activities arranged for the anniversary which included special services with guest preachers on Sunday.

During the evening Rev. Dr. E. A. Henry, the pastor, gave an illustrated talk on "Modern London" to an audience of more than 200 persons, who also attended the dinner.

The banquet was arranged by the Women's Auxiliary, with Mrs. George Piercy, president, and Mrs. E. Thomson, convener, in charge. Dr. Henry presided and briefly reviewed the activities of Fairfield United during the last few years.

Greetings from the city were extended by the mayor, who referred to the valuable work which churches performed in the community. His Worship took advantage of the opportunity to inform his audience of the stable condition which the city was in at this time.

Best wishes from their respective churches were brought by Rev. W. G. Wilson of First United and Rev. Geo. A. Reynolds of First Baptist, who with Dean Quantin were the guests in the church pulpit on Sunday.

Vocal solos were contributed by Miss Isabel Crawford.

DISPUTE OVER MARKET'S PLAN

Hothouse Growers to Present Scheme to Board; Counter-petition Made Up

Hothouse tomato and cucumber growers of Vancouver Island prepared to-day to present their plan for controlled marketing to the Provincial Marketing Board to-morrow.

The scheme, covered in twenty-two clauses of a brief which would set up a Hothouse Growers' Board to govern distribution of the products in this area, is the subject of some controversy among the producers.

A board of three is proposed, one member chosen from among the Chinese growers.

In voting on the scheme, it is suggested a grower with 2,000 square feet of glass be given one vote, and one vote additional for every 10,000 square feet more.

The board would be empowered to appoint a selling agent to sell and supervise the distribution of the product and collect a commission not exceeding 7½ per cent of the sale price.

All growers would be required to deliver their products to concentration points arranged by the board.

One section of the hothouse men is opposing certain phases of the scheme, it is reported, and may present a petition protesting.

This petition, now being circulated, claims the growers themselves should have the right to appoint the selling agency, that a charge of only five cents a package should be made on sales in Victoria and a lower commission than 7½ per cent on outside sales.

The petitioners allege the scheme will deliver the growers into the hands of the large buyers and want it all referred back to a general meeting of all those concerned.

The suggested board consists of B. Parkin, George Riddle and Mar Leung. The marketing scheme is designed to control 172 greenhouse growers on the island; of these 143 are white men with 446 houses and an area of 918,783 square feet of glass, and thirty-six are Orientals who own 300 houses with 1,271,290 feet of glass.

Protest Against Change Made In Elections Act

Business Club Objects to Change in Married Women's Status on Voters' List as Retrograde Step

Vigorous protest against the action of the federal government in changing the elections' act with regard to the status of married women on the voters' list, was voiced by the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club at its meeting held in the clubrooms yesterday evening.

The meeting, which was largely attended, recorded its protest, which will be forwarded through the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs to the proper authorities. The resolution will also be submitted to the Local Council of Women for endorsement, the club being of the opinion that the change in the act regarding the status of married women is a retrograde step calling for strong action on the part of all organized women.

Commander C. H. R. Slingsby addressed the meeting on the aims and objects of the Navy League, emphasizing particularly the work of the league in training sea cadets for the mercantile marine. The speaker held the of the present results achieved by this movement, sixty Victoria boys having already been placed on ships and doing well in their chosen career. He appealed for more members to join the league and thus encourage this splendid form of vocational training for boys.

Mrs. Gwen Cash was appointed to represent the club on the League's advisory council to consider the tourist question.

Mrs. D. G. Steves, M.P.P., has accepted the invitation of the club to address its members during her sojourn here for the parliamentary session.

NATIONAL NIGHT
 In response to a letter from Miss J. Daubine, Canadian Federation president, it was decided to observe "National Night" with a dinner at the Y.W.C.A. on Monday evening, November 12, and members desirous of attending must notify their captains not later than Saturday, November 8.

Members willing to assist with the sale of poppies on Poppy Day, Saturday, November 10, are requested to notify Miss Elsie Richardson as soon as possible. The club will purchase a poppy wreath on the centenary for Armistice Day.

Miss Elizabeth Grubb addressed the gathering briefly on the subject of the campaign being waged by the co-ordinated welfare societies of Greater Victoria, telling something of the work which had been accomplished in helping to re-establish needy families.

Miss Van Becker gave a most interesting report of the recent visit of ten club members to the Vancouver club for its annual dinner, and was warmly thanked for it.

Mrs. Shaw, for the finance committee, announced that a bridge party and of the club's welfare fund will be held in November, the date to be arranged later. Miss Tubman reported for the service club's council concerning the forthcoming debate between a British team and a local one.

Miss Mary E. Dods and Miss Agnes A. Morris were unanimously elected to membership, and Miss Winifred Ellis, a former member, was reinstated. Mrs. H. M. Hall, the president, was in the chair.

MME. BEDAUX ENJOYED TRIP

Very Tired After Thrilling Expedition, But "Wonderful Experience"

Canadian Press
 Edmonton, Oct. 23.—A special dispatch to the Edmonton Journal from Pouce Coupe, B.C., says: Three women members of the Bedaux expedition welcome the hotel here as marking success from a seemingly unending battle with mud. Their arrival came after eighteen hours spent in driving the last fifty miles, yet they seemed in as good spirits as when they left Edmonton in mid-July on a projected trail-blazing expedition across British Columbia mountains.

The hotel offered the first taste of civilization's comforts they had since going into the wilderness from Fort St. John, B.C., July 26. The three Bedaux party women, Mme. Alberto Chieso, wife of the noted European sportsman, Mme. Bedaux and their maid, seemed to have enjoyed their experiences greatly.

"It was very thrilling, a wonderful experience," said the charming Mme. Bedaux. "Of course I am glad to reach civilization again, but our trip was wonderful."

Mme. Chieso smilingly admitted she was tired by the final stage of the journey but declared that the trip had been "wonderful."

Equimait Catholic Bazaar.—Mrs. John Hart this afternoon formally opened the sale of work being held in the Queen of Peace Hall, Equimait, under the auspices of the Equimait subdivision of the Catholic Women's League. The sale will be open this evening and to-morrow afternoon and evening, and in addition to the many novel attractions, high tea will be served and refreshments will be available at any time.

Aged Women's Home Shower.—The general public is cordially invited to attend the annual book shower and tea at the Aged Women's Home, McClure Street, to-morrow afternoon, from 3 till 6 o'clock.

Weddings

STILLWELL—HAWKING

An interesting wedding was solemnized on Saturday, October 20, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Hawking, Shawinigan Lake, when their youngest daughter, Jacqueline (Molly), became the bride of Mr. Glen William Stillwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Stillwell, Vancouver. Rev. T. Menzies, Victoria, performed the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and wore a charming gown of white crepe-back satin with pearl trimming. Her veil was arranged with a circle of orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of bronze, gold and white chrysanthemums. Miss Beulah Woodruff and Miss Irene Fielding attended as bridesmaids and wore frocks of organdie in pastel green. Two charming little flower-girls attended the ceremony. "Mickey" Gannon and Betty Fielding, both looking sweet in their pink and blue organdie frocks in mid-Victorian style, with Juliet caps. Mr. Arthur Layton supported the groom.

The ceremony took place in the dining-room, which had been cleverly decorated to represent a forest scene, with fir and cedar branches and deer heads peeping out from the greenery. The floor was covered with moss and autumn leaves and grouped amongst the fir were the Browns, who came to wish luck to their Thelma Owl.

While the happy couple were signing the register, Mrs. C. Page sang in a charming manner, "I Love You Truly."

After the ceremony the couple left to hold a reception at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. A. Layton. The Browns formed a guard of honor and the seventy-five guests showered the happy couple with rice and confetti. At the reception, Mrs. H. E. Hawking, wearing a gown of asher rose georgette, and Mrs. R. Stillwell, mother of the groom, wearing a gown of black satin, assisted in receiving. The bride cut the three-tiered cake later than the groom. A short honeymoon trip to "Olenmere." The bride's going-away costume was a swaggar coat in black lined with brown and white accessories. They will make their home at Duncan.

The out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Collins, Duncan; Mr. and Mrs. A. Lamont, Duncan; Mrs. R. Stillwell, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. A. Wilson, Victoria; Miss Carol Menzies, Victoria; Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Hard, Chemainus; and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Gardiner, Shirley.

PIMLOTT—CAMPBELL

A quiet wedding, at which their relatives and a few intimate friends were present, took place in the parlour of Centennial United Church on Friday evening, October 19, when Rev. C. G. Mackenzie united in marriage Jean, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Campbell of Beaver Lake, Saanich, and Charles, third son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pimlott of Victoria.

The bride was attended by Miss Dolly Hobbs and the groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Alfred J. Pimlott.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the happy couple left by the midnight boat for Vancouver, and on their return will make their home in Victoria.

Among the many gifts received were a case of flat silverware from David Spencer Limited, of which the bride had been an employee, and a handsome set of Belgian table linen from Mr. and Mrs. Rose, of the Rose Furniture Company, by whom the groom was employed.

DREW—CHURTON

A quiet wedding was solemnized on Thursday, October 11, at St. George's Church, Vancouver, when Mrs. Anne Churton was united in marriage to Mr. John A. C. Drew, Rev. C. C. Owen officiating.

A reception was held later at the home of Mrs. W. L. Grundy, and was a honeymoon in Seattle and Portland, Mr. and Mrs. Drew will take up residence at Duncan, Vancouver Island.

PEARCE—MARSHALL

The marriage is announced of Miss Edna E. (Mickey) Marshall to Mr. Cecil P. G. Pearce. The ceremony, which took place on August 18, was performed by Rev. E. M. Willis at St. Saviour's Church, Victoria West.

T.V.A. Sale of Work Is Big Success

The Women's Auxiliary to the Tuberculosis Veterans' Post No. 18 held a very successful sale of work in the Victoria Truth Centre on Saturday, October 20. The sale was opened at 2.30 by Mrs. Kylie Symons who, with very well-chosen words commended the work that the auxiliary are doing, and in which she is so interested herself. The different stalls did a thriving business all afternoon, including novelties in charge of Mrs. Ashworth and Standwick, a huge black cat centring the table, which was won by Mrs. W. H. Booth; the aprons, in charge, occupied a very pretty stall decorated in red and white, the doll in the contest went to Miss Edie Richardson. Candies were in charge of Mesdames Hampton and Hall, their stall being in yellow and mauve, and the basket of candles was won by Mrs. Shanks. The T.V.A. branch had house-holds, directed by Mr. Gibson and Clark; Mrs. Kelly and the cake went to Mrs. W. H. Booth and the chicken dinner to Mrs. Rickets. The fancywork, in charge of Mrs. Campbell and Miss Somerville, was almost sold out before closing time. The quilt went to Miss Vera Richards and the cushion donated by Mrs. Nunn to Mrs. Barroclough.

The W.A. wish to thank everyone who assisted in this effort to make the money for the T.V.A. building fund.

A supper was convened by Mrs. J. Anderson and was well patronized.

FELLOWS' SYRUP

I.O.D.E. Short Story Contest Opened

A prize of $50.00 given by "Echoes," the official magazine of the Order, is offered by the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, for an original short story.

Any story submitted must contain not less than 2,000 words and not more than 6,000.

While other subjects are not debarred, stories dealing with Canadian life are preferred. This does not mean mere prefatory reference to a Canadian background. The particular Canadian setting chosen must be vital to the treatment of the subject. Preference is given to wholehearted treatment and subject matter. Literary merit will be considered, as well as action and interest.

Competitors must be British subjects resident in Canada.

There will be three judges, two chosen from the Canadian Authors' Association and one from the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire.

Manuscripts, which may be in English or French, should be sent by registered post in time to reach the National Educational Secretary, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, 416 Bloor Street East, Toronto 8, Ontario, not later than February 1, 1935. The results will be announced early in April.

Traffic lanes are just being introduced into Glasgow, Scotland.

OPEN COOKING SCHOOL TO-DAY

Jane Taylor Allen to Demonstrate Art at David Spencer's

Practical Lectures For Four Days; Cake Contest Saturday

This afternoon, on the second floor of David Spencer Ltd., Jane Taylor Allen, cooking service expert from General Foods Limited, Toronto, and conductress of General Foods' radio school, opened a series of lectures on home cooking. From the model kitchens maintained by General Foods in Toronto Miss Allen comes with a wealth of new suggestions and hints that will make the cooking of any meal a joy to a modern housewife.

These lectures are becoming a popular event in the lives of Victoria's women—for Miss Allen has lectured here on several occasions. There is no doubt the cooking school will be well attended during the rest of the week. Miss Allen has arranged her lectures as follows.

THE COURSE.

Wednesday morning, 10 o'clock.—A new version of an old art—pie making. Five or six kinds of pies will be made as well as pastry. This is the first time Miss Allen has lectured on this particular phase of cooking, but she feels by the response she has had in other cities that it is to prove the most popular of all.

Thursday, 2:30 p.m.—Cakes on parade. At this time the regulation sponge cake, which is to be used in the baking contest on Saturday, will be made.

Friday, 2:30 p.m.—Bridge luncheon. These suggestions will prove practicable for an buffet supper all the year round.

Saturday, 2:30 p.m.—Christmas suggestions. Miss Allen will make a fruit cake, as well as plum pudding, salads, candies and a number of smaller dainties.

CONTEST RECIPE.

In connection with the cake contest on Saturday, the cakes must not be brought in until 2:30 on the day of the contest. Two expert dieticians will judge the entries, by number only. The name of the lucky winner must not be known until after the decision. The recipe to be used is as follows:

PIONEERS' GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. John Harries of Ladysmith.

as follows: One cup of sifted Swansdown flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt. Grated rind and juice 1/2 lemon. Five eggs. One cup sifted sugar. Sift flour and salt together four times. Add lemon rind and juice to egg yokes. Beat until very light. Beat egg whites until stiff enough to stand in peaks. Fold in sugar, small amount at a time. Then fold in egg yokes. Fold in flour, small amount at a time. Bake one hour in slow oven, 325 degrees.

QUINTUPLETS STILL GAINING

Babies Have Not Normal Life Expectancy, Says Doctor

Canadian Press
Callander, Ont., Oct. 23.—Dr. A. R. Barker, physician to the amazing Dionne quintuplets sisters, said yesterday his tiny charges, just twenty-one weeks old, could not be considered to have the life expectancy of normal children born singly.

The babies stayed indoors for the second day in succession, squalling lustily as the time for their outings passed without any sign of a move on the part of their attendants to take them on the veranda. Cold cream spread on their faces yesterday remedied a slight tendency to sunburn suffered Saturday during a four-hour outing and the babies showed smooth bronze-colored countenances.

Annette lost weight yesterday, but all the rest of the sisters registered gains.

Weights of the babies and changes from Sunday follow:

Yvonne, 10 lbs. 2 oz., 1 oz. gain; Annette, 9 lbs. 12 1/2 oz., 3/4 oz. loss; Cecile, 9 lbs. 2 1/2 oz., 1 oz. gain; Emile, 9 lbs. 10 1/2 oz., 1 1/2 oz. gain; Marie, 8 lbs. 5 oz., 1 1/2 oz. gain.

Total weight, 49 1/2 lbs. Total gain, 3 1/2 lbs.

UNITED FARM WOMEN MEET

President Advocates Federal Control of National Health Matters

Brandon, Man., Oct. 23.—Acceptance of health by the federal government as a national problem was advocated today by Mrs. M. J. Goodale, president of the United Farm Women of Manitoba, in her presidential address to the joint session of the U.F.W.M. and the United Farmers of Manitoba.

"We are looking forward to the time when the health of our people will be a national responsibility, but feel that finances do not permit it at present," said Mrs. Goodale as she reviewed work of the past year and some of the endeavors of the organization for the future.

The U.F.W.M. was in accord with any move, national or international, to completely destroy the possibilities of war, Mrs. Goodale said. It aimed at abolition of strong drink for beverages purposes, through same temperance reform and was unalterably opposed to low class motion pictures which destroy the idealism of youth.

Uniformity of textbooks for use in schools throughout the Dominion had been studied. Mrs. Goodale emphasized the need of a well-planned and conducted system of public school education, and the bringing within reach of rural children the opportunity for high school training.

Health matters had received much attention ever since the organization of the U.F.W.M., she said. During the past year the development of rural public health units had been encouraged. This work would be continued, and close attention paid to health legislation.

In all this work, Mrs. Goodale emphasized, serious thought and study was required to retain a balanced judgment in the ebb and flow of ideas.

Conservative Women's Social.—The usual monthly social evening of the Conservative Women's Association will take the form of a card party for members and friends on Thursday evening, October 25, in the Campbell Building. Mrs. S. Bowden will convene the cards and Mrs. Rolston the refreshments.

ARE MARRIED HALF CENTURY

Mr. and Mrs. John Harries Prominent in Fraternal Circles

Mr. and Mrs. John Harries of Ladysmith, who were married fifty years ago on October 25, 1884, will celebrate their anniversary on Thursday in conjunction with the Pythian Sisters who will also celebrate their thirty-third anniversary in the Forester's Hall, Ladysmith, at 8:30 p.m. The venerable couple will be "at home" to their friends from 2:30 to 5 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Harries were married by Rev. R. Howlands of Saron Chapel, Aberaman, at the Silvo Chapel, Aberdare. The bride was Miss Mary Thomas, daughter of James and Ann Thomas, and a native of Cardigan-shire, Wales. The groom was born in Pembroke-shire, the son of James and Martha Harries. They arrived in North Wellington, August 20, 1888, and left that place for Ladysmith, August 18, 1901 and have resided there ever since.

CHARTER MEMBER.

Mrs. Harries is a charter member of Ladysmith Temple No. 5, Pythian Sisters, which was instituted October 12, 1901, and has filled the office of treasurer for twenty-eight years, continuously for the last nineteen years.

In the Grand Temple of British Columbia Mrs. Harries was elected every year until she reached the highest office of Grand Chief by acclamation and was installed to that office May 14, 1909, at Rossland, B.C., by Sister M. A. Neave, Nanaimo P.A. Grand Chief of the Order. At the grand session of 1913, Mrs. Harries was elected to represent B.C. at the Supreme Sessions held in Winnipeg, August 4, 1913, and Portland, Oregon, August 16, 1913.

Mr. and Mrs. Harries are both charter members of Sharon Chapter No. 8, Order of the Eastern Star and are past matron and patron of the Chapter. Mr. Harries is an enthusiastic worker in his Masonic Lodge and a Past Master. He is also a member of the Imperial Council of the Ancient Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

With all their fraternalism they have not forgotten their other responsibilities and are earnest and regular attendants of the United Church. Mrs. Harries has been a member of the ladies' aid in the Methodist and United Church for forty-four years and is still an active worker.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

MRS. ELDRED TELLS WHEN AND WHY TO WEAN

Mothers tend to develop extreme attitudes toward nursing. Either they are too easily discouraged about their abilities to be successful nurses, and turn too readily to the probable magic of bottle formulas, or they become so satisfied with nursing that they never recognize the need for terminating it.

The time for weaning a baby may arrive as early as the fifth or sixth month. The decision to wean should be made in that case depend upon the baby's gains in weight, which is constantly below normal, despite complementary formulas and additional foods, would indicate the need for another method of feeding.

WEAN AT NINE MONTHS.

The regular time for weaning is reached when baby is nine months old. This is the maximum age for nursing. It has been proved in experiments with thousands of mothers and babies that few mothers are able to nourish their babies beyond that age. In addition there are common-sense behavior problems of a which spring up on the heels of a too prolonged dependence upon the mother.

There are in addition some legitimate reasons for weaning a baby from the breast which has nothing to do with his failure to gain or his advancing age. Chief of these are those debilitating illnesses of the mother which necessitate that she be spared any and all drains upon her own vitality.

BABY HAS RIGHTS.

Nursing is a healthful and natural function but it should be the baby's privilege to be nursed by a well mother. Victims of tuberculosis (so easily transmitted in a nursing baby), sufferers from chronic Bright's disease, cancer, heart disease and epilepsy should all be relieved of the duty of nursing.

When a mother becomes pregnant, though still nursing a baby, she is sensible to wean it immediately. There is no indication for weaning because of the return of the normal periods. There may be, and often is, a necessity for increasing the nutrition of the infant, since most babies show their dissatisfaction by crying and "acting" hungry.

TEMPORARY "WEANING."

There may be reasons for a baby to be temporarily removed from the breast, but not permanently weaned. In such case the breast may be kept actively functioning by use of the breast pump or manual expression of the milk at regular intervals.

Nursing is so vital to the baby that it should be adhered to when- ever possible, even real and sensible reasons for weaning are the only ones which the conscientious mother should consider.

Fighting Fatigue

Often a Losing Battle

Fatigue comes to tell you that your nerve force is running low. When greatly exhausted you become too tired to sleep, too tired to eat, too tired to enjoy yourself, too tired to care. Your stomach is too tired to digest food. The functions of the vital organs are slowed up. You become down hearted and depressed. The natural outcome is nervous prostration and long weeks or months are required for recovery.

Why not check this process of exhaustion, right now, by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food? To make the blood rich and red, and to nourish the nervous system. Back to health and vigour. This restorative treatment is dependable because it supplies to Nature the very ingredients from which new blood is created.

"Look, Friends! I Have a Telephone Again!"

THE Penwicks have a telephone in their home again, and Mrs. Penwick is telling her friends about it.

"It's good to be rid of that 'on-the-shelf' feeling," she says. "When we were without a telephone, I missed so many social affairs because my friends had difficulty in getting in touch with me. Thank goodness we have a telephone again and those days of isolation are over!"

RADIO CONTEST ENTERTAINING

A chance to prove their skill on the field of combat will be given to short wave fans here this winter by an interesting round-the-world short wave contest being sponsored by the B.C. Electric Railway Company. Awards will be made to the competitors recording the greatest number of foreign short wave stations, there will be monthly prizes for the current leaders, and a special award for the fan logging the most distant station in the contest.

A large map of the world has been placed in the B.C. Electric windows, Douglas Street, from which progress of the competitors will easily be told. When a contestant records a foreign station his name, on a card, will be pinned over the position of that station on the map. There will also be a space for the name of the current leader.

The contest promises a lot of fun, entertainment and excitement for followers of the other waves this winter. Further details, entry forms and contest rules are obtainable at the B.C. Electric store.

PLAN PEACE BROADCAST

International Message of Goodwill to Be Brought By Armistice Programme

An international broadcast bringing a message of peace to the people of North America from many of the leading nations of the world, will be carried over the Columbia network on Sunday, November 11, from 1.15 to 2 p.m. PST.

This special Armistice Day programme, entitled "The Family of Nations," has been arranged by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, in co-operation with the Columbia Broadcasting system.

Prominent speakers in the United States, Canada, Brazil, Greece, Japan and Czechoslovakia will discuss the question of permanent international peace, the situation in their native countries and the ever-perplexing question of disarmament.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, will preside at the international symposium. Sir John Simon, British Secretary for Foreign Affairs, will speak for Great Britain. In rapid succession the CBS "mikes" will bring the American radio audience the voices of Dr.

Edvard Beneš, foreign minister of Czechoslovakia and president of the council of the League of Nations; Eleutherios Venizelos, venerable scholar, statesman and former premier of Greece; Sir Horace Rumbold, Prime Minister of Canada; Dr. Afonso de Melo Franco, former minister for foreign affairs of Brazil; and Prince Tokugawa, former president of the Japanese House of Peers and president of the Japanese Red Cross.

Curtis Symphony In Sixth Season

The Curtis Symphony Orchestra, one of the world's outstanding student ensembles, returns to the coast to coast Columbia network for its sixth consecutive season, with a concert from 1.15 to 2 p.m. PST, tomorrow. Under the direction of Fritz Reiner, conductor of the Philadelphia Grand Opera Company and frequent guest conductor of the Philadelphia and New York Philharmonic-Symphony Orchestras, the student orchestra of ninety pieces will be heard each week at this time.

The broadcast will be devoted to Beethoven's "Leonore" overture No. 3, and his Symphony No. 8 in F major. The latter work, termed "prodigious" by many notable critics, is one of the most distinctive of Beethoven's nine symphonies, full of rough humor, marked gaiety, and a final delicacy and serenity of mood seldom paralleled in music. The programme will be presented by the auspices of the Curtis Institute of Music, and will be heard here over stations KOL, KVI and KSL.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—Are looks as important as we are led to believe they are in marriage? If a handsome man marries a plain girl, will he be likely to tire of her sooner than he would of a pretty one? If a beautiful girl marries an extremely ugly man, will she regret it and be attracted to some other?

I am a very attractive girl in love with an ugly man and my friends advise me against marrying him just because of his looks. But he is fine and intelligent and kind and considerate, so I do not mind if he isn't as handsome as a movie hero.

A PUZZLED GIRL.

Answer: I think that the most foolish thing in the world is the undue stress that we put upon physical beauty, and make it, at least so far as men are concerned, almost the determining factor in marriage. For nine men out of ten pick out their wives solely by their looks, without any regard whatever for their intelligence, or their dispositions, or any of the qualities that would fit them to make good wives.

When you tell a man about a new girl, the only question he asks you is: "Is she pretty?" He never makes a single inquiry as to whether she has any brains, or education, or accomplishments. He isn't even interested in knowing whether she is interesting, or whether she is amiable, or whether she is a good sport or not. He just wants to know if she is good-looking. And only too often that is all he asks of the woman he marries.

That is why there are so many divorces because, unfortunately, beauty doesn't last. It is the most fleeting of all charms. It inevitably perishes with age, and even long before age it can be killed by sickness, by an accident, by work and worry. Ten years of the stress of marriage turns many a living picture into a chromo, and then what has the man got who married only for beauty?

Nor does beauty long satisfy a man. He gets tired of looking at a pretty face if there is no intelligence behind it. No wives are often deserted than the beautiful but dumb. Besides, the beauty is nearly always selfish and spoiled. She lives on adulation and husbands get tired of incense-burning very quickly. They want wives who will do some of the knee-bending and low-kowtowing. Nor do good looks compensate for extravagance and lack of all domestic skill. A man doesn't want to spend all of his money in providing fine feathers for his bird of Paradise. Nor does he want to have to get dinner when he comes home at night because his wife can't risk spoiling her lacquered nails by housework. He wants a wife who does not have to dress her part as Miss America and who is willing to make corns on her hands working to keep him comfortable.

It has always seemed to me that the one place of all others in which women registered their superior intelligence to the allegedly superior sex was in their disregard of men's personal appearance. They put almost every other quality ahead of good looks in choosing their husbands. All that they ask of a man is that he shall be clean and well groomed, and the rest may go hang for all they care. A man may be fat or thin; he may be grinning bald; he may be pug-nosed and freckled, but if he is intelligent, if he is interesting to talk to, if he is a good dancer, if he is kind and considerate, any girl is glad to go out with him and he may marry whom he chooses. But you can't imagine any man taking out a fat, bald-headed, freckled girl or asking her to marry him, no matter if she had every possible spiritual charm.

It was the boast of a man, who was credited with being the ugliest man in England that if you would give him two hours' start with a woman he could out out the handsomest man in the country. But no very ugly woman would ever expect to out out a pretty moron.

As a matter of fact, homely men make far more satisfactory husbands than handsome ones, for as a rule a male beauty is far more vain than a female one, nor only expects his wife to spend her time admiring him, but seeks the admiration of other women. And he is selfish and spoiled and feels that the family money should go to adorning him instead of being wasted on his plain wife.

So it is the wise woman who picks out a homely husband, and when she wants to admire a handsome man goes to the movies and takes a squirt at Ramon Novarro and John Barrymore.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am married to the sweetest man on earth. No man could be kinder, more devoted or more generous to a wife than he is to me. Never scolds, never reprimands me, no matter how extravagant I am or how inefficient. But I don't love him. I can't stand his kisses. I can't be a wife to him. I am mean, nagging and despicable. I neglect my housework shamefully. If I tell him I don't love him and leave him, he will be so desperate that he will ruin himself. Throw away the fine business he has built up before he realizes that I wasn't worth it. If I leave him, for me it will mean having to take a housemaid's job for some other woman instead of having my own beautiful house and car. What shall I do? I am the most unhappy person alive.

MRS. A. J.

Answer: You are on an emotional jag. Why don't you sober up and try to see things as they are instead of torturing yourself with pink elephants running up the wall and huggingos sitting on your pillow?

You have thought and thought about not being in love with your husband, and about his not being the romantic hero of your girl-dreams and failing to get a thrill out of the sound of his voice, until you have worked yourself up into a state of hysteria where you are suffering all sorts of psychopathic pains and having a perfectly gorgeous time being miserable about nothing.

When I think of all the women in the world who have drunken and abusive husbands; when I think of the women who are down on their knees scrubbing floors to support sick husbands; when I think of the women who are ill themselves, yet who drag themselves to work every day because they must earn the bread to keep their children from starving, and then when I hear a woman who has a good, kind, loving, tender husband who laps her luxury, complaining that she is the most unhappy woman in the world because she isn't as romantically in love as she would like to be, I could weep over her folly. Yes, and over her ingratitude to God who has given her every good thing, and she throws them away like a spoiled child.

My advice to you is this: Quit thinking about yourself so much and think a little about the splendid man to whom you are married. Don't be wicked enough to ruin his life by letting him find out how you feel about him, or by leaving him. Have enough courage to carry on and keep up the deception and make him happy.

Suppose you are not ardently in love with him. You like him and respect him and admire him. That is the real basis on which all friendship is founded, and friendship is a mighty good substitute for love. Indeed, it is what romantic love turns into after people have been married for a few years. It is the fruit into which we can set our teeth after the fragile blossom of passion has perished.

And don't forget this: The best way in the world to cultivate love is by doing something for some one. We just naturally love those whose interest and happiness are our care and for whom we make sacrifices. Get busy doing things for that good husband of yours. Make him a comfortable home. Cater to his little tastes and habits. Think of him instead of yourself and you will find that you are drawn to him in a way that you have believed impossible, and you will find happiness yourself.

Believe me, if you give up your good home and start out as a domestic servant, you will bitterly regret it. You won't think then that sentimental love is the most important thing in the world.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1934

According to astrology this is an uncertain day in planetary direction. Obstacles may delay plans and puzzling financial problems may offer difficulties.

This is not an auspicious day for signing legal papers. Even verdicts of litigation to marry may be unlucky. Contracts should be delayed.

While this configuration prevails contradictory news regarding national affairs may be disseminated for the confusion of voters. The wise man or woman will study economics. An election sensation is risky.

Under this way the effort toward satisfaction of dwellings should be fortunate, for the stars promise great progress toward artistic development of American life.

Marriages will be unusually numerous all through the autumn, for the stars are believed to encourage a tendency to ignore all former obstacles. While this country may not be involved in any clash war clouds will encourage love-making. Persons whose birthday it is have the luxury of a year of opportunity and prosperity. Both men and women should have much happiness.

Children born on this day probably will be clever and quick-witted, courageous and successful.

Mrs. Lockwood, suffragist and reformer, was born on this day, 1839, and John Garfield, painter, in 1870.

IN JAIL FOR SAFETY

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 23.—Mrs. Frances Robinson, jointly indicted with her husband and his father in the Stoll kidnapping, will remain in jail for her own safety, her attorney said to-day.

"She is safer in jail," her attorney commented. Asked what he meant, he replied she feared her fugitive husband, Thomas H. Robinson Jr., might return and kill her if she were free on bail.

retirement, breathed easier after his bodyguard had arrested

Arrest of the man, sought by for thirteen months, had immediate and surprising repercussions. M. Jannopoulos, Minister of Interior, resigned in humiliation. He had his resignation immediately accepted by the Premier, and other officials were dismissed. Dismissals, too, were approved chief executive.

Seven of the former Premier surprised Karathanasis at his and took him to the residence chief of police. That surprise
